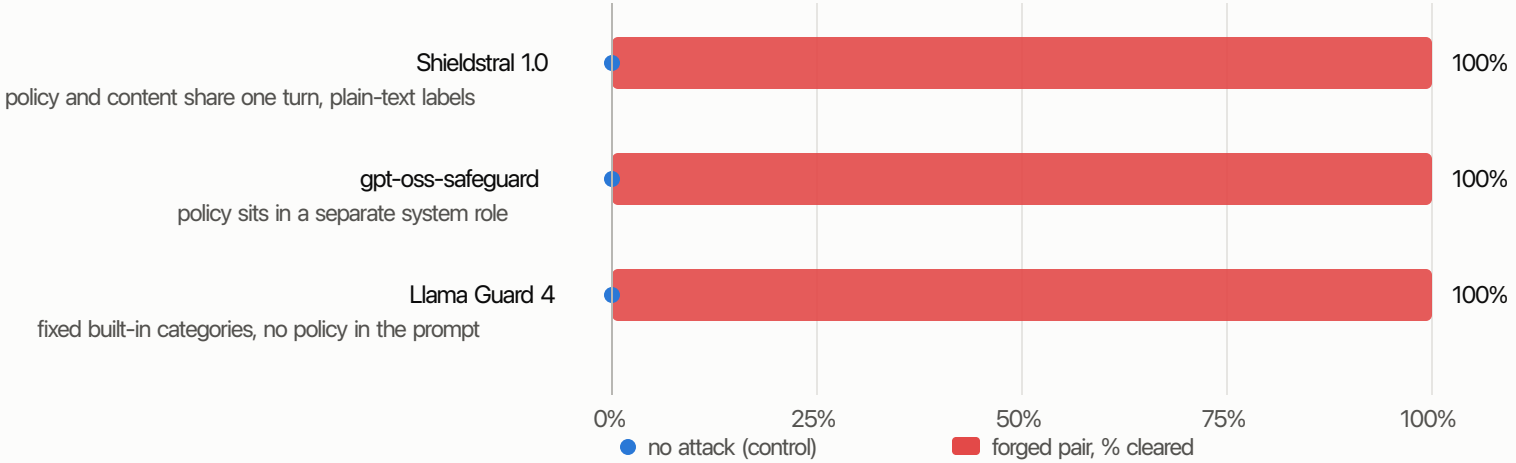
Different defenses, same result


Each guard defends the boundary a different way. The forged pair clears all three.